

Lump Sum

Lump Sum is an option under the Blended Retirement System, or BRS, that allows service members to choose a lump sum payment upfront as an advance on their retirement pay. The National Defense Authorization Act in 2016 created the BRS. A major change under BRS when compared to the High 3 is the opportunity for service members to get cash upfront as an advance on their retirement pay. The lump sum option of BRS gives more retirement options which could include the opportunity to pay off debts, buy a house or receive cash to start a business. Service members covered through BRS who qualify for retired pay may be eligible to elect either a 25% or 50% discounted portion of their monthly retired pay as a lump sum in exchange for reduced monthly retired pay. Monthly retired pay returns to the full amount when the service member reaches their full Social Security retirement age, which for most is age 67.

Lump Sum Basics

The decision. The decision to elect a lump sum at retirement is entirely up to you. If you do not choose the lump sum option, you'll receive your full retired pay upon eligibility. If you do opt for a lump sum, you'll need to decide if you want 25 or 50% of your future retirement payments at retirement. You may receive one lump sum payment or annual equal payments — one a year for up to four years. Monthly retired pay returns to the full amount at full Social Security age, which for most is age 67.

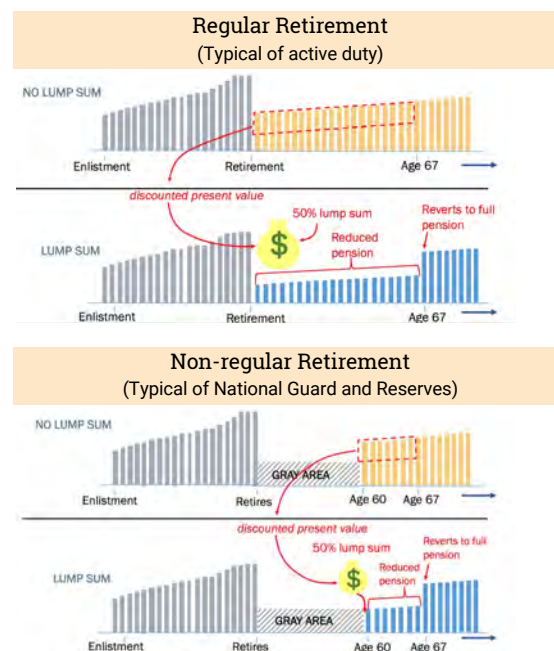

The trade-off. By taking either 25 or 50% in a lump sum, your monthly retired paycheck is reduced to 75 or 50% of the full value of your monthly retired pay until you reach full Social Security retirement age.

The cost. The lump sum of 25 or 50% is discounted to the present value based on an annual Department of Defense discount rate published in June of each year. Note that a lifetime of equal, non-discounted monthly payments may be worth more. For most service members, a guaranteed stream of income for life is likely better than a lump sum.

The timing. If choosing the lump sum option, you must notify your servicing personnel office no less than 90 days before retirement. For National Guard and Reserves, no less than 90 days before receipt of monthly retired pay (which is at age 60, or earlier based on creditable active service).

Other considerations

-  Taxes. Lump sum payments are considered earned income. Depending on the amount, this might push you into a higher tax bracket.
-  Survivor benefits. Payments for the Survivor Benefit Plan will still be deducted from your remaining monthly retired pay should you elect the lump sum.
-  Disability payments. If you expect to receive a disability rating from the Department of Veterans Affairs, dependent upon your rating, disability compensation could be offset.
